II. BACKGROUND/SITUATION ANALYSIS

Many things have drastically changed in the workforce, including the recruitment process. With virtual connections becoming the daily standard, most companies have bid farewell to the traditional method of recruitment.

According to Worktables' New World of Work of Survey, nearly two-thirds of global industries went fully remote since the start of the pandemic while about a third went partially remote. Around 71% of companies in the survey stated that remote work will become the norm moving forward.

This only means one thing: remote recruitment is the new normal. In a nutshell, remote recruitment involves sourcing, interviewing, and hiring qualified applicants with the use of online tools. Embracing remote recruitment is especially vital today as many global companies transition to the work-from -home setting.

Hence, in response to a rapidly shifting labor landscape, the Guidance and Counseling Office under the supervision of the Office of Student Affairs and Services of Polytechnic University of the Philippines – Quezon City Branch and in partnership with Community of Human Resource Students (CHRS) and in collaboration with Quezon City Public Employment Service Office (PESO) and Jobs180.com that aims to facilitate the career development of graduating students and jobseekers will conduct a virtual pre-employment preparation talk and career fair with the theme “PUPQC Virtual Career Expo 2021: A Path in the New Normal” on May 24-25, 2021; 8:00 am -5:00 pm via Zoom. The highlight of this virtual activity is to prepare PUPQC graduating students and jobseekers both alumni and residents of Quezon City on virtual job applications and interview tips, trends and practices. More so, PEP (Pre-Employment Preparation) Talk is a webinar designed to equip them with the necessary knowledge and skills on relevant career topic delivered by industry professional and expert. More so, allow them to develop vital character strengths of resiliency, motivation and determination to pursue their career goals amidst pandemic crisis through PUPQC alumni inspirational sharing.

III. PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

Through this virtual pre-employment orientation and career fair, we are responsive to strengthen the 3rd & 4th pillars of the PUP -Enabling and Productive Learning Environment & Holistic Student Development and Engagement respectively; specifically enable the participants to:

- To continuously provides holistic and responsive career services, and support system to all learners specifically for the graduating students;
- Provide opportunity for graduating students, alumni and jobseekers to acquaint and familiarize with a wide range of occupational opportunities in the new normal workplace setting;
- Provide virtual venue for participating companies to formally introduce themselves to the participants and likewise to give a positive experience for first time job seeker in an initial interview and screening; and
- To contribute to the increase of employability rate of the graduating students and jobseekers both alumni and residents of Quezon City.

IV. DESIRED IMPACT AND OUTCOME OF THE PROGRAM

90% of the PUP QC online participants (graduating students, alumni and job seekers) attended the pre-employment orientation and participated virtually in the pre-screening interviews with human resource representative(s) from participating companies/industries endorsed by PESO Quezon City. Hence, participants with developed character strengths are empowered, prepared and explored possible employment opportunities offered by various companies in the new normal.
